Winter 2011

Issue Twenty One

High-Rise Concrete!

Beer Moos is delighted to announce that the 18th Milton Keynes Beer Festival, the Concrete Pint 2011, was a massive success, and that this was, in no small measure, thanks to our outstanding new venue. 1538 people, more than double the numbers from last year, came to our superb new central location at The Buszy opposite Milton Keynes Central station. Over four days from 12th to 15th October they drank their way through 5472 pints of beer, cider and perry; emergency supplies of all three had to be sourced on Saturday morning to make good the depredations of the night before!

The festival ended at 10:55pm on the Saturday night when the last 6 pints were given away, making the event a total sell-out despite a bigger selection of beers than in recent previous years. The Beer of the Festival, as voted by our customers, was Brodie's Hackney Red IPA from a small brewery in Leyton, east London.

Forty CAMRA members staffed the festival, all of them volunteering their time for free. Attendees visited from all corners of the UK, and our customers included celebrities such as DJ and presenter Jo Whiley and comedian Harry Enfield, as well as Milton Keynes South MP Iain Stewart.

Drinkers were entertained by several live groups, and there was also a two-hour live broadcast on MKFM radio. We received much favourable comment about our new festival website keeping customers up to date on on what beers were available, and next year we hope to add a Twitter feed.

Festival organiser Doug Dillow said: 'All the hard work was worthwhile due to the fantastic feedback about all aspects of the festival this year. We are already looking at planning next years' event....even bigger and better!'

It's a MAD world!

Customers of Concrete Pint Beer Festival 2011 may have wondered who were our hosts at the Buszy, our new venue. The answer is – MAD.

That name is an acronym for Make-a-Difference, a community interest company whose aim is to provide positive activities for young people between ages 13 and 25. For those unfamiliar with the concept, a community interest company has no shareholders, and operates rather like a charity but without trustees.

MAD supports young people doing volunteering – looking after the elderly, for example. It also helps young people set up and run their own projects, such as homework clubs. It also supplies volunteer stewards for gigs at the National Bowl and similar events.

MAD receives no funding from central or local government. Its sole current source of income is hirings of Buszy which is available for weddings, parties, business presentations, even the occasional beer festival! All money raised from hirings goes back into MAD who reckon that every £1 raised saves £7 in avoided social costs. MAD leases the former bus-station building from a qango called Homes and Community Agency (HCA).

Buszy is managed by Danny Quinn, son of Sue Quinn, who CAMRA members may remember was the Madcap in Wolverton's friendly manager in the good far-off days when the Concrete Pint was welcomed there.

Milton Keynes and North Bucks CAMRA branch is delighted that the rent we pay to hold our beer festival at The Buszy goes to support such good causes. We look forward to many years of happy association with this excellent organisation.

For more information and for hiring The Buszy visit www.mad-uk.org or www.thebuszy.com or call 01908 231312.

Booze Bus to Buckingham

Milton Keynes drinkers may be interested to know that the X5 Oxford coach now stops in Buckingham town centre, making visits to Buckingham pubs much easier and more practicable. And of course Arriva number 32 has always stopped there.'

Readers, PLEASE support our advertisers and patronise their businesses, for without them there would be no Beer Moos for you to enjoy.

The Victoria Inn in Bradwell Village has long been a favourite with real-ale lovers. Under the care of the Davies family, first son Dean then father Dave, this Enterprise Inns house has been a fixture in the Good Beer Guide, and in 2009 was chosen as our Pub of the Year.

Earlier this year, Dave Davies retired, and John Wigglesworth and his son, also called John, took command at the Victoria. Beer Moos went to meet them.

After 35 years with the Post Office, John, who's 54 and originally from Manchester, wanted a fresh challenge doing something relevant to a community, and running a pub seemed an ideal way to achieve this. The younger John had been playing football in Bradwell, and father and son first encountered the Vic through that. Then the tenancy came up for sale and, with a 20-year secure lease safely signed, on 30 May the family moved in.

John hopes to place greater emphasis on food than before, but without in any way neglecting the ale, and promises to keep the Vic a true regular's pub, firmly rooted in and serving its community. Other plans include opening the back bar and installing satellite TV for football, extending opening hours, and encouraging use of carry-outs. He also means to make more use of the garden – perhaps selling ice cream and soft drinks there.

John's hobbies are restoring old cars, allotment gardening, and keeping tropical marine invertebrates. He gets much help from his regulars, though he's noticed that they divide into lager-drinkers and ale-drinkers with little crossover between them. Despite his beer-tie he's able to offer LocAles such as Concrete Cow, Hopping Mad, Whittlebury, and Tring. It seems his ale-drinking regulars like to see changes rung!

John hopes the family will have a long-term future at the Vic. Beer Moos wishes them every success.

Here at Tring Brewery we select the finest natural ingredients and craft them into a variety of sumptuous, often award winning ales.

In fact we produce over 25 cask ales every year, from the light, crisp and hoppy Side Pocket for a Toad to the rich, dark and malty Colley's Dog.

A beer to suit all palates? We'd like to think so.

You can find these brews in many of the region's pubs and bars. You can also 'try & buy' fresh draught beer and a variety of bottles to take away from our shop.

However and wherever you enjoy it, enjoy local ale from Tring Brewery.

Local Cider Award Presentation

In the last issue of Beer Moos we celebrated Laurence Conisbee, our local Virtual Orchard cider-maker, winning CAMRA's National Gold Cider award for his Hard Core cider. Here Laurence shows his certificate after the official presentation at the Great British Beer Festival at Earl's Court in August.

Steppingley Beer and Curry festival 2011

This was so enjoyable last year that this year we hired a mini-coach for this one-day event at the Drover's Arms, Steppingley on September 17th. There were 30 real ales, mostly from micro-breweries, and a choice of ciders, perries, and wines to help wash down the delicious curries. This event is a fund-raiser to maintain the Village Hall and support other community events in the village.

Britain's biggest showcase of winter beers returns!

If you're looking for an excuse to shake off the cold and damp of winter, pay a visit to CAMRA's National Winter Ales Festival from January 18th – 21st at Manchester's Sheridan Suite.

With over 300 winter warmers, the festival is the biggest showcase of its kind in Britain. There will be English and Indian food to accompany the beer, and live music on the Saturday. Judging for the Champion Winter Beer of Britain takes place on the opening day.

For more information visit www.alefestival.org.uk Virgin trains offer low advance-booked fares from Milton Keynes. The Sheridan Suite is on Oldham Road just north of central Manchester, on good bus routes.

Crawl with Us?

Everyone loves a really good pub crawl, and Beer Moos can recommend two excellent ones this winter. Would you like to join us?

On December 17 we enjoy our yearly Christmas crawl in Northampton. We meet at the Malt Shovel in Bridge Street (opposite Carlsberg) at noon and finish there later.

Then on January 14 we join all the branches in CAMRA's Central Southern Region for a seven-pub London crawl. Starting at 12 noon in Holborn, we sup our way to the Euston Tap so you only have a short stagger to your train back to MK.

You can do join or leave us at any point – just call or text 07899 980307 (on the day only please!) to find out which of these pub we're in.

Bone but not Dry!

Scientists at Cambridge University have discovered that drinking beer in moderate amounts helps to prevent bone loss and encourages growth of new bone.

That's because the malt used to make beer is a rich source of silicon, a mineral better known for its role in electronics, but which is a vital trace element for bone health. Like all living tissues, bone is constantly being lost and renewed, and silicon is vital for this to happen. A pint of ale contains about a third of the daily recommended dose, and real ale, apparently, is the beer richest in silicon. The alcohol in beer is also believed to slow down bone loss.

This, of course, is not a prescription for drinking to excess. But a pint of beer a day may well guard you against osteoporosis in the future. And, unlike all too many medicines, taking this one is actually a pleasure!

Fuller's Earth and full of ale - a drinker's public

For our second public transport guide, we're letting the train take the strain, although a combination of bus routes will also get you to the pubs mentioned. At 16.5 miles long, the Marston Vale line is a short east-west link between Bedford and Bletchley. It cuts through an area rich in mineral resources; the scars on the landscape and the place names reflecting the raw materials and the products produced. There are four stations on the line within our branch area, putting 15 varied pubs within your reach.

We start at the most easterly point, Woburn Sands, where you'll find the Station Hotel (above) alongside the station. One small room is taken up by a pool table and can be served from hatch in the corridor. The main area of the pub contains a curved bar, with the main dining area towards the rear. The pub is well known for its breakfasts, with fish 'n' chips suppers featuring towards the weekend. Beers tend to be from regional breweries, with LocAles showing up on occasion. The pub's regulars tend to set the beer choice, but you never know exactly what to expect.

For the other pubs in Woburn Sands hop on a bus for a few minutes or take a 20 minute stroll to the centre of the village. You'll pass the Weathercock on the way, but it isn't on our patch as the branch boundary runs down the centre of the road. The same goes for the Fir Tree Hotel, a good Wells and Young's house and the Greene King tied Royal Oak to the south of the village centre.

The Swan is one of ours though, a much extended building on a busy corner, offering up to four ales. Once again it is the regional breweries that dominate, with Adnams frequently being the most unusual offering. The pub has a modern stylish interior mainly catering for their food trade, so it can be standing room only when things get busy.

If you are feeling energetic, there are a variety of fairly long walking options to get to our next pub. However, the number 17 bus will take you to the door, or use Bow Brickhill station which is a 10 minute amble from the pub. The Wheatsheaf (below) nestles discreetly amongst the houses, tucked back from the road a little with only its signage to give it away. There are two spacious rooms served by a single long bar. The two hand pulls offer Young's Bitter and Eagle IPA, always in good condition. It is an oasis of calm and well worth seeking out. Next stop is Fenny Stratford, on the edge of Bletchley's urban sprawl. It boasts seven pubs in total, although neither the Maltsters Arms nor the Foundry Arms offers any real ale. Heading away from the main streets and down Lock View Lane towards the canal, you'll quickly find the Red Lion (above). This hostelry was branch pub of the year in 2010 and continues to serve excellent quality beers. There are usually two to choose from with traditional brown bitters being particularly popular.

A brief wander along the canal will bring you to the Bridge Inn, a large building with a modern interior offering Greene King IPA served from an unusual dispense. If you want to avoid the open kitchen area, head for the conservatory at the rear of the building, which also houses the pool table. Heading back towards the station along the old A5 will bring you to the Swan Hotel, another spacious bar although considerably less modern. Beer from Adnams is regularly available from the U-shaped bar that serves the single room. The hotel does a steady trade, keeping the bar fairly busy.

Crossing the road, a short walk along Aylesbury Street will bring you to a traditional two-roomed pub, the Bull & Butcher, which usually offers one or two ales. The front room is popular with locals watching sports on the TV.

Heading back towards the station again you'll find the Chequers. This small locals' pub is owned by Vale Brewery, so it is their ale you'll find on the pumps. Although there is only a single room, it is split into three distinct and quite cosy areas. Exit through the car park at the rear for the swiftest route back to the station.

Final stop on the line is Bletchley and the closest pub to the station is the Park, (below) down a steep set of steps and across a busy main road. The pub is in the shadow of the railway bridge and partially hidden by large trees. The interior is best described as odd - a split level bar with modern décor covering what is clearly an old building. You'll find a beer or two tucked away at the back of the bar.

If you're looking for a bigger selection of ales, including a few surprises, take the short walk across the bus station and past the fast food outlet to the Enigma Tavern. It has the look and feel of a large housing estate pub, but braving the bland exterior will reward you with a choice of around four ales.

The day return fare between Bletchley and Woburn Sands is £3.30, but railcard holders can get 1/3 off on Saturdays. Travel out to the furthest point and you're allowed to break your return journey as often as you like. The service runs roughly hourly, with the last train departing Bletchley at 21:01, arriving in Woburn Sands at 21:12, continuing to Bedford at 21:45. In the other direction, the last train departs Bedford at 21:56, serving Woburn Sands at 22:27 and on to Bletchley at 22:39.

There's no rail service on Sundays, but much of the route is served by buses. Use the 3 for Woburn Sands, the 8A for Bow Brickhill, and the 1 for Fenny Stratford - Bletchley is served regularly by several services. Monday to Saturday there are more bus choices, including the 17 which serves all the pubs mentioned during the day except those in Fenny Stratford.

All information correct at the time of going to press. For more info on this rail route, visit www.bbrua.org.uk.

Update to Olney area guide in Beer Moos 20: Recent timetable changes have seen peak bus services slashed on the nr 1 bus route beyond Newport Pagnell. The last return service is now as early as 21:37 from Lavendon and 16:14 on Sundays.

Moosings from the Chair

I'm still on cloud nine. The Concrete Pint festival was such a great success. Twice the size of recent MK festivals. Big thanks to Doug Dillow and the beer festival committee. And to all the volunteers – a great asset to have such a good number of helpers if the festival is to grow as we'd like it to. I think it is the first of a great sequence of beer festivals to come, thanks to our fantastic new venue, The Buszy.

We've always wanted to come back to CMK ever since the National Hockey Stadium priced us out of the patch of grass we'd held our biggest festivals on. We've even made enquiries recently about erecting a marquee on Station Square, but that came to naught.

The Woughton centre was a great venue in itself, and we're very grateful to the management there for accommodating us when the Concrete Pint was homeless. Trouble is, there was no passing trade, no-one knew where it was or how to pronounce it, and a lot of people assumed it was in Woughton-on-the-Green (it's nowhere near).

The success of many town-centre beer festivals is based on having a great town-centre venue such as Bedford has enjoyed for many years at the Corn Exchange. I think we have found our equivalent venue.

Cheers

Phil Swinbank

BEER MONEY? CAMRA MEMBERS' INVESTMENT CLUB

Have you ever wished that you owned part of a brewery or one of the many pub chains that are now so dominant? Well, now you have the opportunity of turning that dream into a reality. If you are a member of CAMRA you are eligible to join the CAMRA MEMBERS' INVESTMENT CLUB (CMIC).

For a minimum of £5 per month you could start making an investment in the many companies in which the Club owns shares. These include Adnams, Black Sheep, Carlsberg, Duvel Moortgat, Enterprise Inns, Fullers, Greene King, Joseph Holt, Hop Back, Hydes, Mitchells & Butler, Punch Taverns, Shepherd Neame, Thwaites, Wadworth, J D Wetherspoon, Young's and many more.

The Club operates like a unit trust. Members can subscribe between £5 and £166 each month by standing order, or make a single annual payment up to a maximum of £2,000. The amount can be altered at any time and, if necessary, can be stopped and your investment cashed in or left to "ride" – the choice is yours. However, as with all share-based investments, the value of investments and the income from them may go down as well as up, and investors may not get back the amount originally invested.

At 31 October 2011 the funds of the Club were almost £10.5 million. By holding a growing share in particular companies, the Club's votes at their AGM's could make a real difference, perhaps to a takeover bid or other hostile actions. Having a voice in the boardrooms of the pub owning groups could help influence their guest beer policies, which is becoming increasingly important in the market where the smaller breweries are competing with the giants.

For the members, the Club organises tours of the breweries in which it has shares both in the UK and in Europe. These visits often present the opportunity of meeting the Directors of the companies as well as viewing their brewing operations.

The Club has its own web site www.CMIC.uk.com For an information pack on joining the Club contact:- CMIC, 31 Chapel Brow, LEYLAND PR25 3NH Tel: 0845 130 2337, Fax 01772 455528 or e-mail info@CMIC.uk.com.

Looking Ahead

 Friday – Sunday 30th March-1st April CAMRA Members' Weekend and AGM, Riviera International Centre, Torquay TQ2 5LZ.

We need a Sec'y!

Pressure of work means that Lyn Norman, our stalwart Branch Secretary, won't be standing for re-election at the AGM in January. Would you like to be nominated as her successor?

Please let us know by phone, text or email if you're interested in taking this on. The job is not onerous, but you will be expected to attend and take accurate minutes at our meetings. Lyn will be happy to help you till you get used to things, and a CAMRA job description is available as well. You do also have to be a CAMRA member, of course.

This is a core post in the branch – we can't function without a secretary – so please let the nominations roll in. Contact any branch official on the list on page 3.

Have you Scored yet?

CAMRA's National Beer Scoring System (NBSS) is an easy 0-5 point scale for judging beer quality, and to find out which pubs consistently sell well-kept ale. So we invite all real ale drinkers, not just CAMRA members, to send us their beer scores for pubs both in our area, and elsewhere in the UK. We forward scores for out-of-area pubs to the relevant branches. These results help us decide which pubs to consider for the Good Beer Guide.

E-mail your scores to us at pubs@mkcamra.org.uk, bring them to any of our meetings or social events, or submit them online at www.beerscoring.org.uk. You'll need to give your name, CAMRA Membership Number (if you're a member), Date of Survey, Pub's Name and Location, Beer Name and Brewery, and of course, your score.

0 Undrinkable	No cask ale available, or so poor you have to take it back or can't finish it.
1 Poor	Beer that is anything from barely drinkable to drinkable with considerable resentment.
2 Average	Competently kept, drinkable pint but doesn't inspire in any way, not worth moving to another pub but you drink the beer without really noticing.
3 Good	Good beer in good form. You may cancel plans to move to the next pub. You want to stay for another pint and may seek out the beer again.
4 Very Good	Excellent beer in excellent condition.
5 Perfect	Probably the best you are ever likely to find. A seasoned drinker will award this score very rarely.
